

I'm going to have a workshop when I'm
about ten,
I'll make it from wood,
it will be my den.

*(Mime hammering
and drilling to make a workshop.)*

I'll paint it yellow and possibly white,
I'll add little glass
windows and curtains
for night.

(Mime painting the workshop.)

Then I'll put up a sign, saying 'Private, please knock',
And I'll have my own
key and a silver padlock.

(Mime locking a door with a padlock.)

Inside will be full of
shiny new tools,
Big metal spades for digging up jewels.

(Mime digging for treasure.)

Hammers and drills,
nails, a sharp saw,
A soft woollen rug to cover the floor.

(Mime sawing.)

Yes, I'll have my own workshop, when I'm
about ten,
Or maybe sooner – I can't wait until then!

(Mime hugging self with glee at the thought of the new workshop.)

© Sally Gray

