

Fact cards

Forces can make things move faster, slower, change direction or stop.

A push moves things away from you; a pull moves things towards you.

You have to push harder to move objects, such as a bicycle or scooter, up a slope.

Experiments can be repeated to check that the results are accurate.

