

Autumn is here!

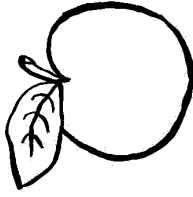

These little eyes can look all around,
(Point to each eye and move them around.)
Up through trees or down to the ground,
(Look up and look down.)

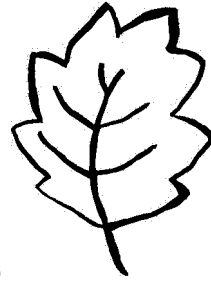

Watching bright leaves as they float through the air,
(Watch fingers moving like leaves floating from above the head down to the ground.)
Autumn is here, it's everywhere!

This little nose can sniff all around,
(Point to the nose and sniff all around.)
Up in the air or down near the ground,
(Sniff up in the air and then low down on the ground.)

Smelling leaves as they float through the air,
(Move fingers like leaves floating from above the head down to the ground while sniffing.)
Autumn is here, it's everywhere!

These little ears can hear every sound,
(Point to each ear.)
High in the air or close to the ground,
(Point up high and then low down.)
Listening to leaves as they swish through the air,
(Cup hands behind the ears and pretend to listen to leaves swishing through the air.)
Autumn is here, it's everywhere!

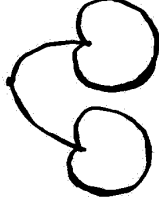

This little mouth can taste apples so round,
(Pretend to munch an apple.)
Caught from the trees as they fall to the ground,
(Pretend to catch an apple.)

And cherries and plums, perfect to share,
(Pretend to pick fruit and hand it to the children standing at either side.)
Autumn is here, it's everywhere!

These little hands can feel all around,
(Spread the hands out and move them up and down.)

Touching tree trunks or twigs on the ground,
(Pretend to run fingers over a tree trunk and then stoop down to pick up a twig and feel it.)
Throwing crunchy leaves high in the air,
(Pretend to throw leaves up in the air.)
Autumn is here, it's everywhere!

© Jean Evans

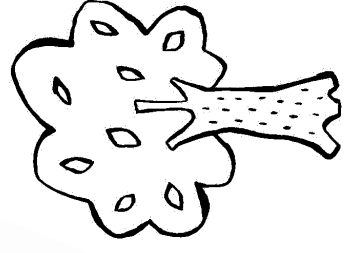

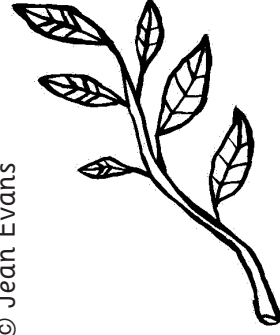

ILLUSTRATION © RACHEL FULLER